
Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
The ten most common mistakes	xiii
Introduction	1
1 The publication of scientific papers	5
1.1 Why publish?	5
1.2 What should be published?	6
1.3 Who should publish?	7
1.4 Where should you publish?	9
1.4.1 General considerations	9
1.4.2 Specific considerations	11
1.5 Manuscripts for biomedical journals	11
2 Before you start writing	13
2.1 Instructions to Authors	13
2.2 Common grammatical mistakes	14
2.2.1 Why does grammar matter?	14
2.2.2 Spelling and consistency	15
2.2.3 The active versus the passive voice	16
2.2.4 The incorrectly related participle	16
2.2.5 The use of "that" and "which"	17
2.2.6 Nouns as adjectives and the problems that they cause	17
2.2.7 "This" is often incorrect	19
2.2.8 The incorrect use of "due to"	20
2.2.9 "Types," "kinds," and "classes"	20
2.2.10 "None" means "not one" and is singular	20
2.2.11 Some common problems with hyphenation	21

2.2.12	Hyphenation and abbreviations	21
2.2.13	Numbers and hyphens	22
2.2.14	Lists and semicolons	23
2.3	Reference books	24
3	The title page	27
3.1	The choice of title	27
3.2	The running title	29
3.3	The authors' names and relevant footnotes	30
3.4	Author for correspondence	32
3.5	Key words	32
3.6	Abbreviations	33
3.7	Fonts	35
4	The Abstract or Summary	36
4.1	The function and length of the Abstract or Summary	36
4.2	Heading and numbering	37
4.3	Format: continuous text or specified sections?	37
4.4	Abbreviations	37
4.5	The single-sentence summary or précis	38
4.6	Inclusion of references in the Abstract	39
4.7	The content of the Abstract	40
5	The Introduction	41
5.1	Length	41
5.2	References in the Introduction	42
5.3	Historical background	43
5.4	The working hypothesis behind your research	44
5.5	Methodology, instrumentation, materials and analytical tools	44
5.6	Relevance of your study and inferences from your results	44
6	Materials and Methods	46
6.1	Format	46
6.2	Biological samples	47
6.3	Chemicals	48
6.4	Units of measurement	49
6.5	Registered trademarks	49
6.6	Organization of Materials and Methods	49
6.7	Details of theoretical premises and computations	51

7	Human subjects	52
7.1	Descriptions of human subjects and case histories	52
7.2	Informed consent	52
7.3	The format of a case history	53
8	Results	55
8.1	The quality of your data	55
8.2	What results should you include in your Results section?	55
8.3	The organization of your results	56
8.4	Presentation of your data	56
8.5	References to Figures and Tables in the Results section	57
8.6	The commonest mistakes in the Results section	58
8.7	Availability of your newly synthesized materials to others	59
8.8	Intellectual property and patents	59
9	Discussion	61
9.1	Length and purpose	61
9.2	Organization of the Discussion	62
10	Acknowledgments	64
10.1	The purpose (and spelling) of Acknowledgments	64
10.2	Who gets acknowledged?	64
10.3	Conflicts of interest	66
11	References and Notes	67
11.1	References to papers	67
11.2	References to books and to chapters in books	70
11.3	References to electronic sources	70
11.4	Words in foreign languages	71
11.5	References to papers "in press" and to unpublished data	72
11.6	Notes	72
11.7	A note about the number of references	73
12	Figures and Figure Legends	74
12.1	General advice	74
12.2	Graphs and histograms	74
12.3	Units and axes	75
12.4	Logarithmic and semilogarithmic scales	76
12.5	Photographs	76
12.6	Diagrams and schemes	77
12.7	Capitalization in figures and diagrams	78

12.8	Figure Legends	78
12.9	Reproduction of Figures and Tables that have been published elsewhere	79
13	Tables	80
13.1	General considerations	80
13.2	Titles of tables and footnotes	80
13.3	Keep it simple	81
14	Supplementary information	82
15	First letter to the editor of your target journal	83
15.1	The purpose of the letter to the editor	83
15.2	Presentation and salutation	84
15.3	The body of the cover letter	84
15.4	A sample letter to the editor	85
15.5	Additional documents	87
16	Submission of your paper	88
16.1	On paper, as electronic files or via the internet?	88
16.2	Submission on paper	88
16.3	Submission on a diskette or a CD	90
16.4	Electronic submission	90
17	Letter from the editor and your response	92
17.1	Acceptance without revision	92
17.2	Acceptance with revisions	92
17.3	Rejection with an offer to reconsider	93
17.4	Outright rejection	94
18	Second letter to the editor with responses to reviewers	95
18.1	Your second chance	95
18.2	The second letter to the editor	95
18.3	Responses to reviewers	97
19	Congratulations, your paper has been accepted!	100
19.1	Prepublication publicity	101
	Appendix. A note about writing applications for financial support	102
	Valedictory	105